Director Of Nursing Job Interview Preparation Guide.

Question # 1

Why should I hire you as Director Of Nursing?

Answer:-

I've been a Nurse Practitioner for the past ten years - my boss has said time and time again that without me, the hospital would fall apart. I've also taken the time to educate myself on some of the latest industry issues I regularly use (but didn't really understand the ins and outs of). What's good enough for most people is never really good enough for me.

Question # 2

Tell me a time when you did not get along with a nurse?

Answer:-

I used to lock heads with a fellow nurse in the INCU ward. We disagreed over a lot of things - from the care of patients to who got what shifts to how to speak with a child's family. Our personalities just didn't mesh. After three months of arguing, I pulled her aside and asked her to lunch. At lunch, we talked about our differences and why we weren't getting along. It turns out, it was all about communication. We communicated differently and once we knew that, we began to work well together. I really believe that talking a problem through with someone can help solve any issue.

Question # 3

Explain how do you handle staffing issues?

Answer:-

Nurse Managers assign nursing staff to each department in the health care unit: radiology, emergency, etc. They do this in coordination with the departments and their own knowledge of current nursing practices, taking into account the needs of the nurses and their schedule as well.

Question # 4

Explain me how do you place newly trained nurses in different departments?

Answer:-

My job is to assess nurses during and after the training period and determine which nurse will work efficiently in which department. I make sure that I understand each nurse's limitations and work around them so that I can place them effectively.

Question # 5

Do you know patient centered care?

Answer:-

By patient centered care we mean development and implementation of individualized patient care plans that are designed specially and are adaptable according to the patient needs.

Question # 6

Explain me the position: assistant director of nursing you're applying for?

Answer:-

This is a "homework" question, too, but it also gives some clues as to the perspective the person brings to the table. The best preparation you can do is to read the job description and repeat it to yourself in your own words so that you can do this smoothly at the interview.

Question # 7

Explain me why are you interested in this particular nursing job?

Answer:-

Again prepare for this by finding out as much as possible about the job and the facility. Demonstrate why this job is the one you particularly want using this background research. For example:

"I am specifically looking for a position in a facility like this because of it's excellent emergency care"

Question # 8

Explain me how do you stay current with the nursing profession?

Answer:-

Nurse interview questions about your motivation to learn and stay updated are important indicators of your commitment to nursing as a career. Examples include attending conferences, subscribing to professional nursing journals, joining relevant forums and groups and conducting online research.

Question # 9

Why do you want to work in this industry as Director Of Nursing?

Answer:-

I've always loved nursing, but my interest in health care really started when I volunteered at a homeless shelter in college. Seeing so many people without care inspired me to pursue a career devoted to caring for others. I kept going back and volunteering, which got me hooked. It was great to be able to contribute positively to society that then led me to a field I feel so passionate about.

Question # 10

Can you explain when were you most satisfied in your job?

Answer:-

I'm a people person. I was always happiest - and most satisfied - when I was interacting with patients, making sure I was able to meet their needs and giving them the best possible care. It was my favorite part of the job, and it showed - I was rated as "Good or Excellent" 95% of the time in peer reviews. Part of the reason I'm interested in this job is that I know I'd have even more interaction with patients, on an even more critical level.

Question # 11

Explain me about your experience in training newly graduated registered nurses?

Answer:-

The nurse manager assesses performance. Normally, a newly graduated RN will be very familiar with all of the new nursing technologies and newly developed medical techniques. They will however usually require information as to how to improve performance, anticipate and prevent misunderstanding/conflicts, define goals, work as a team, etc.

Question # 13

Please explain why did you leave your last job as Director Of Nursing?

Answer:-

Stay positive regardless of the circumstances. Never refer to a major problem with management and never speak ill of supervisors, co-workers or the organization. If you do, you will be the one looking bad. Keep smiling and talk about leaving for a positive reason such as an opportunity, a chance to do something special or other forward-looking reasons.

Question # 14

Please tell me what did you like least about your last job?

Answer:-

There was nothing about my last job that I hated, but I guess there were some things I liked less than others. My previous role involved traveling at least twice a month. While I do love to travel, twice a month was a little exhausting - I didn't like spending quite so much time out of the hospital. I'm happy to see that this role involves a lot less travel.

Question # 16

Please tell me what do you think of your previous boss?

Answer:-

My last boss taught me the importance of time management - he didn't pull any punches, and was extremely deadline-driven. His no-nonsense attitude pushed me to work harder, and manage my case loads way more efficiently.

Read More Answers.

Question # 17

What motivates you as Director Of Nursing?

Answer:-

I've always been motivated by the challenge of a tough patient. In my last role, I came across a particular patient who refused a handful of nurses before he was assigned to me. I was able to find something we had in common, which calmed him down. After the patient saw me make an effort to better understand his situation, he became much more agreeable to my aid. I love facing and overcoming challenges on such a personal level.

Question # 22

Tell me what are the biggest challenges facing nursing today?

Answer:-

Healthcare systems globally are struggling to meet the demands of the populations they serve. One of the major problems is the current shortage of trained nurses. Use your interview answer to demonstrate that you have thought about this issue and offer up some reasons as to why there is such a shortage of skilled nurses. Possible reasons include low nursing school enrollment due to poor perceptions of nursing as a fairly rewarded career and nurses leaving the profession before retirement age due to job dissatisfaction. You need to be able to show your interest in nursing as a career by demonstrating that you have thought about the current and future issues facing nurses.

Question # 24

Explain me a time when you were not sure of the protocol required to be followed. How did you handle the situation?

Answer:-

Two years back when the clinic I worked for was upgraded to hospital status, we were short of staff and the protocols for registering a patient who needed care from more than one department had not been communicated. I took an extra minute to confirm the protocol from higher management and communicated the same to my team same day

Question # 25

Explain me what did you like and dislike about your previous position?

Answer:-

The interviewer is evaluating your suitability and compatibility with this nursing opportunity. General likes that are applicable to most nursing jobs include learning opportunities, professional growth, job diversity and directly contributing to improving patient care.

The dislikes should not refer to characteristics of the nurse job you are interviewing for. Stay away from reasons that involve common working conditions such as overtime. Avoid criticisms of your previous employer but refer to the absence of something that you want in your new job such as the opportunity to use your initiative more or learn new skills.

Expect nurse interview questions that explore your motivation for the nursing job and a nursing career.

Question # 28

Tell me what is your greatest failure, and what did you learn from it?

Answer:-

When I was in college, I took an art class to supplement my curriculum. I didn't take it very seriously, and assumed that, compared to my biology classes, it would be a walk in the park. My failing grades at midterm showed me otherwise. I'd even jeopardized my scholarship status. I knew I had to get my act together. I spent the rest of the semester making up for it, ended up getting a decent grade in the class. I learned that no matter what I'm doing, I should strive to do it to the best of my ability. Otherwise, it's not worth doing at all.

Question # 29

As we know enforcing discipline is part of the job. Give me an example of that from your experience?

Answer:-

The job of a nurse requires stress tolerance, positive attitude and behavior and great care for detail. Nurse Managers have the ability to encourage all of these via praise, active listening, and occasional surprises ranging from time off to free tickets or chocolate bars. When necessary, the NM will have to identify employees that show lack of professionalism. To prevent this from happening, nurse managers can instruct staff in specially designed coaching and training. Give an example or two from your own experience.

Question # 32

Tell us how would your friends describe you?

Answer:-

My friends would probably say that I'm extremely persistent - I've never been afraid to keep going back until I get what I want. When I worked as a program developer, recruiting keynote speakers for a major tech conference, I got one rejection after another - this was just the nature of the job. But I really wanted the big players - so I wouldn't take no for an answer. I kept going back to them every time there was a new company on board, or some new value proposition. Eventually, many of them actually said "yes" - the program turned out to be so great that we doubled our attendees from the year before. A lot of people might have given up after the first rejection, but it's just not in my nature. If I know something is possible, I have to keep trying until I get it.

Question # 36

Tell me what is your experience working as a nurse manager?

Answer:-

I was initially trained and hired as a registered nurse seven years ago. I was rotated in cardiology, pediatrics, oncology and trauma over the years. The most intense work that I did was in the ER / trauma center where I was expected to be on my toes all the time. A little tardiness meant that someone could lose their life! I believe it was success at handling emergency situations that eventually got me promoted to a nurse manager's position.
