First Aid Nurse Job Interview Preparation Guide.

Question # 1

Can you tell us is there anyone you just could not work with?

Answer:-

No. Well, unless you're talking about murderers, racists, rapists, thieves or other dastardly characters, you can work with anyone. Otherwise you could be flagged as someone who's picky and difficult if you say, "I can't work with anyone who's a Bronco's fan. Sorry."

Question # 5

Can you tell us what Do You Like to do in Your Free Time?

Answer:-

This question also does not require any preparation and it is not necessary that your reply should be related to your job. You can simply quote your hobbies or interests like reading novels, playing any kind of sports, or anything that you are interested in.

Question # 6

Tell us what Challenges are You Looking for in This Occupation?

Answer:-

This question is asked to know what exactly you are looking for in the new job. You can tell what kind of patients you want to handle and on what kind of project you want to work. You can also twist the answer by saying those challenges that would effectively utilize your abilities, skills, and experiences and help for the betterment of life of disabled.

Question # 7

Tell us what do You Dislike about Occupation Therapy?

Answer:-

First Aid Nurse Interview Questions And Answers

This is not an easy question as it seems. Only an incompetent therapist assistant would dislike the job. You can reply in a positive way by saying that if you dislike anything, you would not have chosen this field as a career option.

On the other hand, if you are a fresher, you can say I haven't worked as an OT before so I cannot say anything.

Question # 8

Can you tell us are you good at working in a team?

Answer:-

Unless you have the I.Q. of a houseplant, you'll always answer YES to this one. It's the only answer. How can anyone function inside an organization if they are a loner? You may want to mention what part you like to play in a team though; it's a great chance to explain that you're a natural leader.

Question # 9

Tell us are you willing to put the interests of X Company ahead of your own?

Answer:-

Again, another nasty question. If you say yes, you're a corporate whore who doesn't care about family. If you say no, you're disloyal to the company. I'm afraid that you'll probably have to say yes to this one though, because you're trying to be the perfect employee at this point, and perfect employees don't cut out early for Jimmy's baseball game.

Question # 15

Tell me when Have You Demonstrated a Great Deal of Patience in the Work Place?

Answer:-

The question is different from other questions as the recruiter wants to test whether you are patient or not through this question. To respond to this question, you have to give an example from your working experience. Here's a dummy situation.

I once had a patient who was refusing services and was constantly disturbing everybody else. He was not ready to undergo the treatment procedure set for him. At that time when no other assistant was able to tackle the situation, I somehow managed to persuade him to continue with the therapy and treatments set out for him.

Question # 16

Can you explain a suggestion you have made that was implemented?

First Aid Nurse Interview Questions And Answers

Answer:-

It's important here to focus on the word "implemented." There's nothing wrong with having a thousand great ideas, but if the only place they live is on your notepad what's the point? Better still, you need a good ending. If your previous company took your advice and ended up going bankrupt, that's not such a great example either. Be prepared with a story about an idea of yours that was taken from idea to implementation, and considered successful.

Question # 17

Can you tell me would you rather be liked or feared?

Answer:-

I have been asked this a lot, in various incarnations. The first time I just drew a blank and said, "I don't know." That went over badly, but it was right at the start of my career when I had little to no experience. Since then I've realized that my genuine answer is "Neither, I'd rather be respected." You don't want to be feared because fear is no way to motivate a team. You may get the job done but at what cost? Similarly, if you're everyone's best friend you'll find it difficult to make tough decisions or hit deadlines. But when you're respected, you don't have to be a complete bastard or a lame duck to get the job done.

Question # 22

Tell us have You Faced Any Difficult Situation in Treating Patients?

Answer:-

The answer to this question depends on the candidate. First of all, if you are a fresher, you will not face this question. If you are not, then the answer depends on your work experiences. You can tackle it like:

I have treated a number of patients but once I had a kid as my patient who was injured severely. He got injured again while playing in the hospital and started crying and yelling with pain. Unfortunately, his family members were not there, and I had to give him medical aid and emotional support at the same time. This was one of the difficulties I faced as an OTA.

Question # 23

Can you tell us has anything ever irritated you about people you've worked with?

Answer:-

Of course, you have a list as long as your arm. But you can't say that, it shows you as being negative and difficult to work with. The best way to answer this one is to think for a while and then say something like "I've always got on just fine with my co-workers actually."

Read More Answers.

Question # 24

Tell us do you have any questions to ask me?

Answer:-

I'll finish the way I started, with one of the most common questions asked in interviews. This directly relates to the research you've done on the company and also gives you a chance to show how eager and prepared you are. You'll probably want to ask about benefits if they haven't been covered already. A good generic one is "how soon could I start, if I were offered the job of course." You may also ask what you'd be working on. Specifically, in the role you're applying for and how that affects the rest of the company. Always have questions ready, greeting this one with a blank stare is a rotten way to finish your interview. Good luck and happy job hunting.

Question # 32

Suppose if You have a Disagreement With an OT, How Would You Deal with that?

Answer:-

Well, I would wish, I never face such a situation. But, if there is any such situation in which I have a disagreement with an OT, then I would try to resolve it as soon as possible. Any disagreement would create a bad atmosphere. I would admit if I was in the wrong, and if not, I will try to make the OT understand the situation and provide reasonable logics for the same to end the conflict in a proper manner.
