Makeup Artist Job Interview Preparation Guide.

Question # 1

Why did you choose this profession as Makeup Artist?

Answer:-

I love to play with colors. I found this profession suitable for myself since it allows a lot of creativity and complements my inborn knack for fashion and glamour. My eye hand dexterity is also very good which supports me a lot in the role.

Question # 3

Explain me if you weren't a makeup artist, what else would you do?

Answer:-

I don't know how to answer this as I have never taken my mind off being a makeup artist. My focus has been a constant for most of my life. This is what I was born to do.

Question # 4

Tell me what's your favorite makeup brush?

Answer:-

My fave makeup brush is actually an eyebrow brush. It's a giant soft version of the tiny hard angled ones you usually see and it works great creating a full, luscious natural looking brow in one swipe.

Question # 5

Tell me how do I pick the perfect red lipstick?

Answer:-

Women are always on the prowl for this. Choose cooler "true" red tones with a bit of blue if you have pink in your skin or are super fair-skinned. A warmer orange-red tone works best for olive-skinned women. -Lori Taylor-Davis, Smashbox Global Pro Artist

Question # 6

Tell me what is the most memorable job you've done?

Answer:-

Whenever I work with a celebrity, it's always very special. I recently spent the day with Kendall Jenner on an Estée Lauder shoot and got to experience first-hand, the "Kendall Jenner Effect." It's great to be with a celebrity who is surrounded by so much positive light.

Question # 7

Tell me what are the benefits of being represented by an agency as opposed to being on your own?

Answer:-

A good agent can protect you. They're a great barrier between you and the client to make sure things like proper pay, kit fees and transport are all arranged for you.

Makeup Artist Interview Questions And Answers

Also you're not hassling a client for money. They also can guide your career in the right direction for your talent. A good agent should market you right and open up doors to new clients you never would have met on your own. I love my agency, Artists By Timothy Priano- they "get me" and how I like to work, I'm obsessed with my booker Christina there- she's amazing! Even when I bring in my own clients she always gets me a better deal then I could have arranged for myself, plus she is super sweet and all my clients compliment how lovely she is-which is very important to me, I like to be professional but nice.

Question # 8

Explain me what prompted you to launch your own line of cosmetics?

Answer:-

As a celebrity makeup artist, I literally had every single line of cosmetics at my finger tips. Everything from the 99 cent drugstore brands, to the most prestigious luxury brands, and still there was nothing out there that I was 100% happy with! My assistant and I would spend hours playing "chemist," mixing together several different products to create something that we could use on my clients. I thought to myself, there has to be a better way! I wanted something that my clients, my friends, my family, and I could all trust to make us look and feel as fierce as we deserve!

Question # 9

Explain me how girls can achieve a look that is both "cool" and parent-friendly?

Answer:-

Again, you don't have to go overboard! Try those fun colored eyeliners, but keep the line skinny and close to the lash line. Try that fun, bright lip, but do it as a pretty sheer gloss. Balance is also so important, and something that a girl is never too young to learn about. What I mean by that is, if you do a smokier, or heavier eye, do a nude lip. If you're doing a bold lip, go for a lighter eye.

Question # 10

Tell me how did your career begin in the world of beauty?

Answer:-

My career with fashion and celebrities began when photographer Steven Meisel saw my work and booked me for the cover of Italian Vogue. I was very lucky that he gave me such an amazing opportunity to prove myself. It was the first booking I had. He is the defining reason that I have a career. He changed my life.

Question # 12

Explain me are there any trends that you absolutely love or would love to see brides leave behind?

Answer:-

I love that brides are going back to more color on the lip. It got to be way too nude there for a while, so I love seeing the red, pink and berry shades coming back. The one trend that I would love to see left behind for makeup across the board is the harsh contouring! Just don't do it ladies!!

Question # 13

Tell me what are the biggest challenge makeup artists have to face?

Answer:-

The biggest challenge I think is that makeup artists are required to remain up to date with new trends and fashion. The fashion industry evolves on daily basis and the expertise has to be upgraded accordingly.

Question # 17

Explain me how do I contour my face?

Answer:-

Contouring seems like a daunting task if you've never done it. The reality is it's easier than you may think. The simplest way to understand contouring is to imagine a light over your head. The areas of the face that the light will illuminate are the highlights and the areas cast in shadows are the contours. Finding the right products is easy, and may already be in your makeup collection. Use a foundation or concealer one shade darker than your skintone (the one you purchased after that last beach vacation), or a bronzer can do the trick. -Blair Patterson, Director of Global Makeup Artistry, Estée Lauder

Question # 20

Tell me what are your favorite Fall/Winter 2011 beauty trends?

Answer:-

I have to say, usually, I always wear a smoky eye and a pink lip. Always. But, lately, I have been branching out and doing a red lip! There's something so classic, yet so modern about it! And with today's amazing innovations, you don't have to worry about it traveling all over your face!

Question # 21

Tell me how did you get into the business?

Answer:-

I have been a lover of makeup since I was a little girl. I always played with makeup, which sometimes annoyed my older sister because I was always breaking into her room to put on her crimson pink lipstick and blue mascara (gotta love the 80's!). When I got old enough to start wearing makeup my mom took me to the Clinique counter at Macy's, I was instantly in love. From that point on I knew I wanted to be a professional makeup artist. However, I didn't get my start professionally until I was 20 and got my first makeup job as a counter manager for Benefit cosmetics at a Macy's store. Kind of ironic. ;-) After 2 years of working in what I call the retail trap, I left in search of bigger and better opportunities. I wound up working at a salon with the intent of going to beauty school. Soon after starting in the salon world I realized that it was a pretty toxic, negative and caddy aspect of the industry and it wasn't for me. I know all salons aren't like this but I soon realized that I didn't want to "work for the man" and be constrained to where my creativity took me. Around that time was when I met my now husband who recognized my talent and pushed me to pursue starting my own makeup artistry business and thus WarPaint International was born!

Question # 22

Tell me what makes you different from others in your field?

Answer:-

It's simple. We don't do drama. We do not tolerate toxic, negative or catty behavior and these standards have attracted the right type of artisans to us. Like attracts like. The way we conduct business is always professional. We treat our artisans and clients with the utmost respect. We are responsive, consistent, talented and reliable.

As you know speaking of age appropriateness, let's consider the flip-side. In this day and age of Toddlers & Tiaras and 20-something-looking tweens, is there an age you, as a makeup-artist and mom, consider too soon for girls to begin wearing makeup on a regular basis?

Answer:-

We have a lifetime of wearing makeup, so while it's fun for girls to play, I think it's better that we wait until we're older to wear makeup!

Question # 24

Tell me what are the three tools in your make up kit that you can never, ever be without?

Answer:-

The three tools I can never be with out are 1: a contour brush. I use them for everything from shadow to powder to concealer 2: a sharp pair of slanted tweezers from Tweezerman, and 3: my eye lash comb (because I like rock and roll but not clumpy lashes).

Question # 25

Tell me when did you decide "okay, this is it, I'm going to be a professional make up artist?"

Answer:-

Growing up I had a big costume box and I was always into dressing up. I went to art school for a little while in high school then studied theatre in college at Penn State. My favorite courses were the costuming and stage makeup classes, so after I graduated I moved to London and studied at a professional makeup school taught by ex BBC artists.... It wasn't a career I really thought of when I was younger but more of a natural progression of something I fell into. I feel so lucky that I can have a career that is combined by my love of art, dressing up and dramatics.

Question # 26

Do you know which foundation works best?

Answer:-

Foundation creates the illusion of a flawless complexion. First, you need to determine what type of coverage you want to achieve: sheer, medium, or full. Next, decide on the finish: matte, natural, or dewy. Estée Lauder has a huge variety, so they're usually my favorite. -Victor Henao, Global Makeup Artist, Estée Lauder

Question # 27

Tell me how would you describe your signature look and what is it about your style that sets you apart from other makeup artists?

Answer:-

I like to make a face pop on the red carpet. I like skin to sing and look healthy and I rarely send anyone out of my chair without careful and light, appropriate contouring.

Question # 28

Tell me how often do you clean your makeup tools such as brushes and combs? How does it affect the wear and tear of your tools and how do you feel about the associated expense?

Answer:-

I wash and disinfect them before I use them on a different client which means I sometimes wash them several times a day. It is true that makeup tools spoil quickly if you wash them too often but I cannot take a risk where clients' health is concerned. I am willing to pay for the extra cost of buying more sets of brushes and combs.

Question # 33

Explain me what is the difference between applying makeup for a TV shoot and applying makeup for a live appearance party?

Answer:-

Makeup for TV shoots is usually thematic and has to be applied as per preferences of the director. Thick base, sharper colors and massive skin foundation is needed for TV shoot makeup. Live party makeup has more finesse. It is kept as light as possible and the goal is to highlight the clients' naturally appealing features and conceal the non appealing ones.

Question # 34

Explain me what were the early days of your career like? Did you have to test a lot in the beginning to build your book?

Answer:-

My early days of my career were hard. I did every crap job out there. I face painted at fairs to pick up my speed. I worked on no budget music videos and short films. I sold beauty products at beauty exhibitions and then for beauty brands like MAC. I assisted established makeup artists I met who came into the MAC shop. I started off cleaning brushes and getting coffee and THEN I tested like crazy. I made a lot of mistakes but learned from them quickly. I went in from the ground up... If you can make a 45 year old with bad skin look good then when you get your hands on a young model with gorgeous skin your task at hand is a breeze. Too many makeup artists today come straight out of school thinking they're gonna' be working on Victoria Secret Models after graduation. However, it's better for makeup artists to hone their skills by working on every face shape and skin tone and problem possible, so they really know how to solve them.

Question # 35

As you know some trends can feel a bit out-there for the average woman. Especially style-conscious women of "a certain age" who wish to remain current but fear looking as if they're trying too hard. What are some comfort-zone-friendly ways to rock the latest trends?

Answer:-

In my opinion, there are no rules! If you want to rock a trend, I say go for it, and just know that you are fierce enough to pull it off! Still, I totally understand that sometimes, it can take some time to get used to seeing yourself with different makeup than you usually wear. Here's a quick tip: If you want to try a bold color on your eye, but aren't ready to do it as a full shadow, try using a fun colored eyeliner! When you blink, you'll just show off a hint of that gorgeous color, which will really help to brighten the face! You can also try using a colored mascara on the bottom lashes only (use your black mascara on the top lashes to keep from looking too 1983!), which will help open the eyes!

Question # 36

Tell me what's the biggest lesson you've learned, and would pass along to others just getting started in your field?

Answer:-

Contracts are key!! They protect you and your client and keep everyone on the same page. In the event something goes wrong you have your policies in writing and a track record of the client agreeing to them. Also never, I repeat NEVER skip the trial appointment, even if it's a friend or family member. Include the trial price into a package for the bride so she doesn't have the option not to have one. It will save you so many headaches on the day of. I mean, can you imagine trying to pick out the perfect shade of lipstick on the day of your wedding? I don't think so. Make a trial required and schedule it 4-6 weeks prior to the wedding. You and the bride will be so much happier.

Question # 37

Tell me how do you communicate with the photographer you're working with on a shoot to achieve his or her goals?

Answer:-

It's really important for a photographer when communicating with a makeup artist to have trust in the artist he or she is working with. If I am hired it's because he/she trusts in my skill but also it's important for the photographer to give as many visual and verbal descriptions for the shoot that we are working on. It's great if I can be given a detailed "brief" of what the shoot is about and what it's for. The makeup I would do on a model for a teen marketed magazine is very different for a European very edgy fashion magazine. Mood boards and tear sheets of ideas are good but I'm not into ripping off another artists' makeup and I always add my own personal flair and stamp on the look.

Question # 39

Explain me what makes you a good fit for this particular makeup artist position with the competition being so tough?

Answer:-

I do not consider myself run-of-the-mill. Where most makeup artists are now trying to do something "different" with every project hence compromising the simplicity of a face or a body, I believe in going back to the basics. For me, the basics are now the "new" thing. So I have the capacity to do both different and old school and this diversity makes me a good fit.

Question # 42

Suppose if you could pick one unique product or service offering, which would be your favorite, and why?

Answer:-

The day of appointment schedules that we create for our clients is something unique that we offer and is one of the many tools that has made our weddings successful. The schedule not only ensures that everyone will be done on time, but we build in extra time on the back end to account for any unforeseen instances that may arise that day. Weddings are days to expect the unexpected so we try to plan for that the best we can; aka a bridesmaid gets lost or oversleeps her alarm. Another benefit to the schedule we create is that the bride can simply forward the schedule to the rest of her wedding party. That way she doesn't have all 8 of her bridesmaids asking her a million times what time their hair & makeup appointment is, where they need to be, or how to prepare for the appointment(s). We include all of that information in the schedule for her.

Tell me any great stories from working with a client?

Answer:-

I have several so it's hard to choose, but I think one of my favorites would have to be from when I was recently in New York City. My team and I were brought in to do hair and makeup at an event called Beautiful Me. The event was focused on young women ages 11-17 and helping them build confidence and inner beauty. One of the young ladies that I did makeup on was so sweet & kind. We had a lot of fun picking out makeup colors she liked and creating a personalized look just for her. When I finished I handed her the mirror, she gasped, started crying and said " I have never looked or felt this beautiful ever in my life!" I of course started to cry too. It was one of the most rewarding moments in my career. Those are the moments I live for.
